Funding Resources for International Students

International students are eligible for some scholarships and loan programs. Since identifying sources of degree funding can take some time, it's a good idea to begin your research early.

Scholarships and Loans

Rollins Merit Scholarships
Rollins offers approximately 50 merit scholarships to outstanding applicants each year. All applicants, including international applicants, are considered for these awards if their complete application is received at Rollins by the application deadline.
http://www.sph.emory.edu/current_students/scholarships.html

The Association of Schools and Programs of Public Health website includes a number of links to help both domestic and international students research scholarship and loan programs.
http://www.aspph.org/study/financing-your-degree/

Federal Loans
International students are not eligible for student loans through the university since these loans are financed through the United States government and are available to U.S. citizens only.

Sponsoring Organizations
In the past, a number of Rollins’ international students have received scholarship funding from the following sponsoring organizations:

William H. Foege Fellowship Program
Candidates must be nominated by one of the following organizations: CARE, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Rollins School of Public Health, The Carter Center, or The Task Force for Global Health. For more information, please contact Dr. Deb McFarland at dmcfarl@emory.edu.

Fogarty Fellowship Program
http://www.fic.nih.gov/Programs/Pages/scholars-fellows-global-health.aspx

Fulbright Program
www.cies.org

Humphrey Fellowship (for one-year, non-degree seeking students)
https://www.humphreyfellowship.org/

King Abdullah Fellowship Program
http://kingabdullahfellowship.com/

Muskie Fellowship Program
http://www.irex.org/project/edmund-s-muskie-graduate-fellowship-program

World Learning
www.worldlearning.org

On-Campus Employment
All information about international student work eligibility can be found on the website of Emory's Office of International Student and Scholar Services.
http://www.emory.edu/isss/students/employment/index.html
For internationals students who are eligible to work while enrolled in Rollins, information pertaining to employment opportunities can be found through:

- Meeting with individual faculty members regarding research and teaching assistant positions.
- Rollins’ Office of Career Services (via one-on-one appointments, mentoring, career fairs, and job announcements) http://www.sph.emory.edu/current_students/career_services/index.html.
- Networking with alumni and other public health professionals by attending conferences, volunteering at health care-related organizations, and other activities.

Rollins Earn and Learn Program:
During their second year at Rollins, international students are eligible to participate in the Rollins Earn and Learn (REAL) program, which gives students an opportunity to practice public health for pay while they're enrolled in school. In-depth info about the REAL program can be found at: http://sph.emory.edu/current_students/REAL/index.html