1. Atlanta Community Food Bank

   Background: We are the central hub in the fight against hunger in Atlanta and north Georgia. Our primary function is collecting and distributing donated food and goods and managing all of the logistics and partner relationships that go with it. We even have some supplemental food pantries and mobile markets of our own to get food to underserved areas our partner agencies can’t reach.

   Service Activity: Volunteers may assist with a myriad of tasks including sorting and packing recently donated food, repackaging produce or grains, or boxing non-perishable items for families and seniors across Atlanta. We will train you on your day of service for the project of the day. Rest assured that the music is loud, the packing is fast-paced and the personal reward of making a difference can't be replaced.

   Accessible

   Notes: All volunteers must register here in addition to this registration. Closed-toe and closed-heel shoes are required, with sneakers or work boots recommended. Our caring staff and volunteers provide affordable lodging, home-cooked meals, and supportive companionship in an effort to improve the health and welfare of families in the midst of medical crisis.

Most of these trees are untended and ignored, with their bounty being wasted to wildlife while only miles away many poor and homeless struggle to include any fresh produce in their diet. With your generosity, we pick these fruits, nuts, and vegetables throughout metro Atlanta and the surrounding areas and donate as much of the harvest as possible to organizations serving Atlanta’s poor and hungry. We also grow vegetables to donate on our small urban farm in Southwest Atlanta, Doghead Farm.
