

Susan Hoffman (writing support) is a third-year Ph.D. student in the Department of Epidemiology interested in omics, environmental epidemiology, and reproductive health. She got her BA in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology from Dickinson College and her MPH from the University of Maryland.; Between her MPH and Emory, she worked as a Research Fellow at the National Cancer Institute. Susan can assist with writing, planning, and editing scientific manuscripts for publication, conference abstracts, posters, and oral presentations, thesis preparation and editing, class work, and final papers.

Snigdha Peddireddy (writing support) is a second-year Ph.D. student in the Department of Behavioral, Social, and Health Education Sciences. Her academic interests involve policy implementation research and the structural determinants of health affecting people who use drugs. She got her BS in Neuroscience from Duke University and her MPH from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Snigdha has expertise in writing academic articles for publication, policy briefs, and reports for non-scientific audiences, as well as data visualization using Tableau. Snigdha can assist students with planning, writing, and revising manuscripts for publication, conference abstracts, posters, oral presentations, theses, and class papers. She can also assist with communicating research and data to non-scientific audiences.

Surbhi Shrivastava (writing support) is a second-year PhD student in Sociology. Her research focuses on gender and health, sexual and reproductive health and rights, and maternal health. Surbhi holds a Bachelor's in Dental Surgery from Manipal University, India and an MPH in Health Policy, Economics and Finance from Tata Institute of Social Sciences, India. Before coming to Emory, she worked in public health research at non-profit organizations in Mumbai and Delhi. Surbhi has experience writing academic articles, opinion pieces, policy briefs, and advocacy statements. Surbhi is available to assist Rollins students in planning, writing, and revising their research articles, conference papers, theses, class assignments and final papers.